drupa 2024 – Press Release, September 2023

Ticket shop now open: drupa 2024 expects visitors from all over the world

Ticket sales for drupa 2024 have started. Under the heading “we create the future” drupa places the industry’s innovative power centre stage and provides a relevant platform for tomorrow’s technologies. Numerous services assist in the best planning possible for a perfect trade fair visit.

For eleven days, everything shaping the future of a whole industry will be on display here. From 28 May to 7 June of next year, the highly anticipated drupa trade fair will be held once again in Düsseldorf at last after a pandemic-induced 8-year break. Tickets are available as of now from www.drupa.com.

At drupa, visitors will learn to make their current business even more successful and secure a competitive edge. The print and packaging industry is undergoing constant change driven by digital innovations, sustainability efforts and changing consumer trends. Against this backdrop, drupa 2024 offers an indispensable and unique platform to tap into this dynamism and chart the course for future-oriented growth.

Key actors from 47 countries have already registered. Particularly well represented again will be suppliers from Europe, first and foremost from Germany, Italy, Great Britain, the Benelux region, Spain and Switzerland, but also from Japan, the USA, Turkey, India and China. 1,400 exhibitors are expected to present themselves at the Düsseldorf Exhibition Centre. The professional world can look forward to surprising and impressive appearances and product launches, especially by global key players along the entire value chain.

Information at your fingertips with the exhibitor and product database

An overview of the exhibitors, their innovations and contact options for making appointments in the run-up to the trade fair comes care of the new drupa Exhibitor and Product Database. Convenient product categorisation, modern and coherent design as well as the option of filtering content by personal interest, all enable visitors to gain a comprehensive overview even before the trade fair kicks off. And because you can make contact quickly this also eases trade fair planning. The Exhibitor and Product Database is live as of now and constantly updated with new information and products. Another valuable tool for preparing the visit is the Interactive Hall Plan.

MyOrganizer, the ideal companion

Interesting products, personal recommendations and your own appointment itinerary: using the MyOrganizer functionality you can already prepare your personal “itinerary” through the exhibition halls in a few steps. MyOrganizer can be used after registering in the ticket shop with a personal login or also without registration. The Login is convenient to use on various devices (smartphone, PC) over an extended period. Once compiled, the list can be adapted or supplemented each time it is called up.

Perfectly prepared for travelling

For the world-leading trade fair for print technologies we recommend you start planning your trip early on. Anyone still looking for accommodation is advised to use the services of BCD Travel Solutions. As Messe Düsseldorf’s longstanding partner they are best placed to advise on which hotels in Düsseldorf and the region are available during drupa and can assist with your booking needs. International visitors can turn to Messe Düsseldorf’s network of Foreign Representations for support.

Travel tips are also featured on the drupa website. Here you will find information on the discounted event ticket offered by “Deutsche Bahn”
